

Klove is a positive outlet in my community, that offers a morally positive alternative to many of the secular stations on the airwaves. It also offers parents a station they know their children can listen to without being bombarded with negative messages. If Klove were to be replaced by a lpfm programmer that option may no longer be available in my community.